Not only is Mark Seltman an internationally known industrial designer, he is also a highly reputed palmist. For more than 15 years, he has analyzed the hands of thousands of people who wished to gain deeper insight into their career paths, relationships, and health. He lectures at colleges and universities, teaches metaphysics at the Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art in New York, and conducts Palmistry workshops. He is frequently featured in the international press, and in his spare time he writes.

Mark's manner is as informal as the surroundings in which he receives his clients. Every available space in his apartment is filled with furniture and objects of his own design, recycled from garbage, made from all the New York debris which Mark collects, refines, and turns into beautiful original pieces. The ambiance plays a significant role in putting a client at ease, so

Mark can enter into a relaxed dialogue. This is supremely important to him because your conversation, body language, and energy patterns will alert him immediately as to whether or not things are working out for you.

Mark's readings are a combination of Astrology, Numerology, and Tarot, blended with Eastern and Western philosophies. First, he will analyze your astrological chart and take an impression of your hands. For the client interested in measuring the progress of his or her personal growth, this imprint will provide an excellent future reference: the lines on your hand alter when your thinking or circumstances change. Mark will then proceed to fastidiously examine the primary elements of your hands to establish a reading of your character. This will entail a careful analysis of the shapes, textures, colors, and consistencies of your skin, nails, and the spaces between your fingers. Of course, he will also study the lines.

Mark's readings are given in great depth and are true labors of love. His goal is to facilitate your understanding of your natural strengths and weaknesses in order to avoid pitfalls while embracing positive potentials. Your past, present, and future are quite literally in your hands.
