Relationship & health potentials, career choices, work styles, and even success and failure are natural predispositions to specific hand types. Learn more about the "REAL" you and explore: How the size, shape, and proportions of the hands show character: How the skin texture and color, and the flexibility, elasticity, and consistency of the hands show how you can get the best results from your actions in the world: How the lengths and proportions of the fingers, the shapes of their tips, knots, and nails reveal talents, abilities, and career potentials: How the lines of the hands show life choices and circumstances. This is a fascinating workshop that you will not want to miss!

Mark Seltman is a professional hand analyst, speaker, and writer. He has been featured on ABC TV's The View, CBS TV's Martha Stewart Living, FOX's Good Day New York, Lifetime TV, and WNYC / National Public Radio.
